Taco Bell gets OK

New store set for West Main

MIKE WEST
Courier Editor
Woodbury's Planning Commission OK'd plans Tuesday (Aug. 26) for construction of a new Taco Bell fast-food restaurant.

The restaurant will be located on West Main Street adjacent to Auto Zone, 934 W. Main St. The shop should employ between 35 and 40 people.

"We're all excited about it. It should be particularly popular with Woodbury's younger citizens," said Mayor Harold Patrick.

While many Taco Bells operate with Pizza Hut or KFC, Woodbury's will be a stand-alone.

"It's going to be a nice Taco Bell with a projected starting date of Dec. 1," the mayor said.

"They will be returning in September to the Planning Commission to seek a sign height variance," Patrick said. Woodbury currently has a 35-foot height limit, but typically Taco Bell's signs are taller.

Taco Bell is an American chain of fast-food restaurants based in Irvine, Cal. A subsidiary of Yum! Brands Inc., they serve a variety of Tex-Mex foods including tacos and burritos. It

Empty school board seat up for Nov. vote

State says issue must be placed on ballot

TONY STINNETT
Courier Sports Editor

Information regarding the necessity for a County General Election for the District 2 School Board seat was derived when Administrator of Elections Dorinda Mankin contacted the State Election Office with a question about an appointment to the position last week.

Instead, Mankin was informed the position would have to be placed on the ballot for the General Election in November because of the time frame between Chris Blackburn's resignation and the timing of the General Election, Mankin said.

As a result, the District 2 School Board seat will be on the Nov. 4 ballot. Candidates have until noon, Sept. 10, to file qualifying petitions at the Cannon County Election Office. The withdrawal deadline is Sept. 12 at the close of business.

"I was asked to call (the State Election Office) to see if the Cannon County Commission appointed someone to the position and how long the appointment would be, whether two years or four," Mankin explained. "When I called that's when I found out this would have to be placed on the November ballot because of the time frame involved."

Mankin said County Commissioners could appoint an individual to fill the seat vacated when Blackburn resigned until the November election if they desired.

Blackburn, who had served as District 2 School Board member for eight years, resigned from his position in June citing additional responsibilities in his family's business. He was already on the ballot to run for the same seat in the August General Election.

Blackburn defeated write-in candidate Frank Walkup in the Au-

Lions Club starts screening Of Cannon youngsters' vision

The Woodbury Lions club is gearing up to start this season's vision screening of Cannon County kids between the ages of 6 months and 6 years of age.

Lion Club member Lois Larimer will be distributing parental consent forms to nursing homes, head-start programs and other places.

Each fall season the Lions Club screens approximately 500 Cannon County children. An average of five percent of those screened are advised to see an eye doctor for examination. Approximately 90 of those referred are found to have a problem that if gone untreated could result in a lifetime of visual impairment.

Lions Club helps those in need that can't afford to pay the expenses. A portion of the money collected each October on White Cane Days goes for this purpose as well as helping fund the cost of the Operation KidSight program.

Nearly 500,000 children in Tennessee have been screened and more than 20,000 children are enjoying a better quality of life thanks to Operation KidSight which was established by the Tennessee Lions Eye Center at Vanderbilt Children's Hospital.

The Lions Club effort has spread around the world and has been named as the premiere prevent blindness program for children by the World Health Organization.

Cannon County government officials bid a fond farewell to three Courthouse officials. Left, Shirley Young is given a plaque honoring her years of work as a deputy in the Trustee's office. Center, it was the last day of service for Debbie Morris, who did not seek re-election after 29 years as Register of Deeds. Right, Wayne Prater listens as Cannon County Executive Mike Gannon reads a list of Prater's accomplishments as Cannon County Trustee.

John "Pearson" Barrett

Mr. John "Pearson" Barrett, 72, of Woodbury passed away on August 26, 2014. He was born in Cannon County on July 9, 1942. His parents were the late Leburn Barrett and Louise Gill Barrett. He was also preceded in death by his wife of nearly fifty years, Patricia Davenport Barrett; and a brother, Jimmy Barrett.

He is survived by his son, Joe D. Barrett of Bradyville; two daughters, Melissa Bogle of Woodbury and Amanda Barrett of Bradyville; four brothers, Lofton D. and Joan Barrett, Joe and Billie Barrett, Bobby Barrett and Donald Barrett all of Woodbury; two sisters, Shirley and Allan Moody of Murfreesboro and Mary and Tom Effler of Kentucky; also by seven grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

Mr. Barrett was an easy going person. If you were his friend he would take up for you. He was a hard working man that liked farming, logging, welding and driving a dozer. He was known to be able to work on all types of heavy equipment. He taught his son how to drive a dozer before he was old enough to drive on the road. When he ran into a problem he could study on it a while and figure it out. He also enjoyed going fishing and target shooting with his friends. He loved to have a good meal with family and spend time with them. They were by his side all the way to the end.

Visitation with the family was held at Smith Funeral Home on Wednesday, August 27, 2014 from 4-8 P.M. Graveside services were conducted by Smith Funeral Home at the Fugitt Cemetery on Thursday, August 28, 2014 at 11 A.M. Van Nichols officiated.

Reservations open for history hayride

Lori Christensen as the worried mother of Captain "Purt" Jones, played by her real life son, Garrett Christensen

Garrett Christensen, formerly of Woodbury, as Union Captain Prettyman "Purt" Jones

The 9th Annual History Hayride at Edgar Evins State Park, Silver Point, between Smithville and Cookeville, will be Sat., Oct. 11.

Reservations opened on Sept. 1. This year all reservations will be on-line at <https://www.123signup.com/event?id=ytfzx> starting Sept. 1. The cost is $15 per person. Four of the cast from Woodbury will be Patti Chappel, Lori Christensen, Gerald Melton and Marcia Melton.

Ride hay wagons back into the olden days as costumed re-enactors at about 10 stops along the circuit will portray people and events from earlier days in the park and surrounding area. A narrator on each wagon will reveal more history between stops.

This is not a Halloween themed event and it is not recommended for small children or anyone who has difficulty sitting quietly for 1 1/2 to 2 hours. It has been described as "... kind of like theater in the round except the audience is sitting on a hay wagon."

Wagons will leave the Visitors Center about every 30 minutes to begin the circuit. Reservations will be for specific wagons and times.

This popular annual event is a fund raiser for the Friends of Edgar Evins State Park, an organization that is dedicated to helping the park and improving the park experience for all.

Fount Bertram, also a resident of Cannon County, is President of the Friends of Edgar Evins State Park. He says the decision was made to change the reservations to on-line for several reasons. One of these is to make it more convenient for working people as they can make the reservations 24/7 at their convenience not just during business hours. It also lightens the load for very busy park office staff.

With this new system a person can make reservations for one individual or a group. There are provisions for timely cancellations posted on the registration site. A Visa or a Master Card will be accepted.

Courier Columnist Dumb or smart? Like a caveman in Times Square

Meat 'n' Potatoes
MIKE VINSON

Those 30 years of age and younger probably will find this story laughable! Those 50 and older probably will understand.

Follow along closely . . .

First, I readily admit I had been dodging this particular issue for well over a year, knowing all along that I needed to come to terms with my dilemma and get it behind me.

However, I continued to procrastinate, and my situation gradually worsened—and it was beginning to take a toll: Friends were eyeballing me with concerned expressions, just shaking their heads in dismay. One really close friend, Phillip, even said, “Mike, anytime you want to change, just give me a call, and I’ll give you all the help you need. You’ll be asking yourself, ‘Why didn’t I do this sooner?’”

But the stark truth is I liked things just the way they were—the way they’d been for years, for that matter—and the reason was the “simplicity” of it all. However, my problem had become so obvious that I no longer could hide it. I realized the smart thing was to cast aside my old way and move on in a different direction. To not do so would be dumb and potentially destructive.

It was Friday morning, August 23, 2014, when this exchange was set to go down. Having tossed & turned the previous night—nervous over what awaited me in the next few hours—I arose around 5:30 a.m. Still procrastinating, I stopped off at a local restaurant and had several cups of coffee, but as country artist Clint Black sings, “Killin’ time [was] killin’ me.”

With knots in my stomach, I left the restaurant and drove to the rendezvous point, a small store where the transaction was to take place. When I pulled into the parking lot, there was only one car there, for which I was thankful: the fewer witnesses the better!

Finally mustering up the courage, I exited my car and entered the front door of the convenience store. The only person inside the store was Misty, a pretty, young gal who might weigh 100 lbs. Without speaking a word, I stared at Misty, and she stared at me: She knew, precisely, “why” I was there. Though petite in physical stature, I was in complete awe of Misty because, for the time being, she held absolute domain over me: She controlled my immediate destiny.

Finally, I said, “Misty, though I don’t want to, I’m gonna go ahead and make a move. Do you still have it?”

“You still want what we talked about before?” Misty asked “Yeah, that one . . . you’re still gonna help me, aren’t you?” I nervously asked.

“You know I’ll help you, just like I promised. Don’t worry, it’ll be okay.

First, though, I need your old one,” Misty instructed.

Since I was about to make a scary monetary transaction, I placed my right hand inside my right pant pocket and pulled out my wallet. I was a bit slower reaching inside my left pant pocket, however, for it contained was at the very center of this Godforsaken drama: my old cell-flip phone now referred to by some of the younger generation as a “dumbphone.” That’s right I was making the quantum leap from a dumbphone to a “smartphone,” with a front screen featuring seemingly enough “Apps” to fill up an “App” dictionary!

The next few hours were nerve-racking. However, Misty did assist me in learning the most rudimentary basics of my new smartphone: mainly sending and receiving phone calls, and sending and receiving text messages. The next day, the store manager, Amanda, continued my smartphone instructions, and, as I made progress, my anxiety lightened.

The irony of this column is when I first attempted to use my smartphone I felt dumb as a rock, like some caveman wandering down Times Square in New York City.

Concerning progress on my new smartphone, I haven’t yet reached Times Square, but I have stepped out of the total darkness of the cave and, now, see a glimmer of light.

AT THE DEPARTMENT OF SECRECY IN GOVERNMENT

Courier Columnist You should visit Farmer’s Market

Have you stopped by the Cannon County Farmers Market lately?

Located next to the Arts Center of Cannon County, the Farmers Market continues to grow. It offers more than the typical “taters” and “maters” most often associated with enterprises of this type.

My advice is take your time and look at all the fruits and vegetables freshly picked for your enjoyment. While there are tomatoes galore, there is also a variety of veggies ranging from watermelons to shiitake mushrooms.

Pepper fans should be on the lookout for everything from tasty bell peppers to hotter blends like poblano (perfect for chiles rellenos), cayenne and jalpeno. They even have some that are scorching hot. (I got the Boss a bag.)

But you’ve got to get there early to partake of Irene Hollis’ fried pies. They go quickly.

But you shouldn’t forget the salsa and pesto made at Half Acre Farms. Tasty!

And let us not forget Joe Patterson’s honey available in sizes ranging from a shot glass to a quart jar. Delicious!

So in other words, bring your bushel basket and load up. Don’t forget to say “hey” to UT-Ag Agent Bruce Steelman who heads up the market.

The Cannon County Farmers Market is located in the pavilion at the Arts Center of Cannon County every Saturday beginning at 6 a.m. Most Saturdays the market is open until noon or until the farm fresh fruits and vegetables have been sold.

Speaking of the Arts Center, that’s where the Cannon County Chamber of Commerce has its office.

The Chamber is stepping up its efforts to entice industry (and that includes tourism) to Cannon County.

“The Chamber Board has contracted with a marketing company, Adams Mabry Swann on a six month trial basis, to showcase all Cannon County has to offer to the surrounding counties and states. Marketing strategies include website enhancement for the county website <http://www.cannontn.com>, ad design, media, social media management,” said Carolyn Motley of the Chamber.

“Tourism may be an industry that brings dollars into our community without demands for additional infrastructure, buildings etc,” Carolyn said.

Do you watch “Antiques Road Show” on WCTE Channel 22? A series of commercials highlighting Cannon County are being shown twice a week during that show.

And don’t forget the Chamber’s biggest fund-raiser, “The Color of Fall Car Show,” which is set for Saturday Sept. 27. That annual event attracts thousands to Woodbury’s Square.

Speaking of major events, The annual White Oaks Craft Fair kicks in Saturday Sept. 13, and Sunday, Sept. 14. Fair hours are 9:00am to 5:00pm both days. This year marks the 25th year of the fair.

One of the most prestigious craft shows in Middle Tennessee, the fair is held along the river behind the Arts Center. Some 75 top artisans will offer for sale their original textiles, jewelry, woodcarving, metalwork, pottery, photography, chairs, baskets, ironwork, stained glass and much more.

Of particular interest are the handmade white oak baskets and chairs. Cannon County has a long tradition of fine crafters.

Many local families turned to making white oak baskets and chairs as a means of survival during the Depression. They traded them for lamp oil, sugar, coffee, cloth, thread and other things they couldn’t grow or hunt. The stores hauled the baskets and chairs to major cities like Detroit, Miami and New York, and peddled them on the streets.

It’s a showcase event. Contact the Arts Center at (615) 563-2787, for further information.

My Take

Courier Columnist MLB’s treatment of Rose stinks

A Shot of Wry
LARRY WOODY

Normally this space is devoted to wacky issues and tongue-in-cheek observations, and is not intended to be taken internally.

But occasionally I digress, and today I’d like to veer out of the base-path of humor and go sliding spikes-first into the smug, protected home-plate of Major League Baseball.

New incoming Commish Rob Manfred last week announced that under his watch, Pete Rose’s Hall of Fame ban will remain in place.

Manfred said he won’t consider lifting it. No how, no way.

Fine. Another reason to hate baseball. For the benefit of Millennials who weren’t around 25 years ago when Rose’s lifetime ban was imposed, here’s what happened: he bet on some games in which he was involved as manager of the Cincinnati Reds.

There was no evidence or suggestion that Rose wagered on any of the thousands of games in which played, any of the record 1,972 wins of which he was a part, any of the games in which he hammered out 4,256 hits -- the most in baseball history.

Rose’s transgression, as bone-headed as it was, occurred AFTER his playing days. It had no bearing on his performance on the field, and shouldn’t taint his amazing accomplishments.

If bad off-field behavior is part of baseball’s Hall of Fame criteria, they’d better scratch off the names of many -- perhaps most -- of its superstars.

Juiced-up, drug-using, drunk-driving, wife-beating players have done more to undermine the image and integrity of the game than a manager who bet on his team to win 25 years ago.

If Commissioner Manfred starts throwing stones, there won’t be any windows left in Coopertown’s hallowed Hall.

The immortal Babe Ruth was, well, mortal. It was joked that the Bambino once broke nine of the 10 Commandments on one barnstorming trip alone.

And the great Ty Cobb was a brawling, racist roughneck whose behavior was so disgusting that he was shunned by many of his own teammates. Even members of his family tended to avoid him. The Georgia Peach was far from peachy, yet he’s in the Hall of Fame along with the boozing Babe.

I once had the opportunity to interview Mickey Mantle. It was a painful experience. Mantle at the time was struggling with alcoholic self-destruction, pitiful and heart-rendering.

Mantle, like Cobb, Ruth, Rose and many others, was flawed. But that doesn’t lessen their baseball achievements. Nobody’s suggesting they be enshrined in the Choirboy Hall of Fame.

We’re talking baseball, and the game’s most enduring, iconic image in the 1970’s and 80’s is of Rose diving head-first and hell-bent into home plate, bushy hair flying. They called him Charlie Hustle, and he played the game with a pride and a passion that has never been matched.

And he did it without the aid of steroids or other chemical enhancements. He didn’t cheat his way to those incredible stats. He earned them, and now at 73, he deserves to be recognized for them. He deserves to be in the Hall of Fame.

If it would make the smug Hall of Fame’s “protectors of the game” feel better, along with his records include the fact that later, as a manager, he was kicked out for gambling. Record the good, the bad, and the ugly and let history judge how Pete Rose, the baseball player, should be remembered.

I think Charlie Hustle could live with that.

Foster parents needed in Woodbury

For those looking to make a difference in the lives of children, becoming a foster parent provides a rewarding opportunity to help a child in need. Youth Villages is currently in need of caring adults in the Woodbury-area to open their hearts and homes to children who have suffered abuse, neglect or abandonment. These children need families who will care for them until they can return to their birth families or an adoptive family is found for them.

Foster parents provide children with a safe, comfortable environment and monitor their emotional growth, school progress and physical health. They also serve as positive role models to children who may lack caring adults in their lives.

Youth Villages provides foster parents with 24-hour access to counselors, support groups and a monthly stipend to offset the cost of adding a child to the home. Foster parents also often have the first right to adopt if the child becomes available for adoption.

Foster parents should be over the age of 25 and residents of Tennessee. Foster parents should have viable income, reliable transportation and be able to pass a background check and home study.

Youth Villages offers free information sessions for those interested in learning more about becoming a foster parent. The next information session will be held Monday, Aug. 25 from 5:30-7 p.m.

Youth Villages also offers free training classes to teach new foster parents how to address a child's emotional and behavioral problems, as well as parenting and discipline techniques. Free training classes will be held on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 6-9 p.m., beginning Thursday, Sept. 11.

The information session and training classes will be held at the Youth Villages office, located at 448 Neal St., Cookeville, TN 38501.

To register for the upcoming information session or training classes or for more information about how you can change the life of a child, contact Chris Sanders, foster parent recruiter, at 931-525-6905 or christopher.sanders@youthvillages.org.

Farmer's Market makes a great start to a weekend

Drop by the Market this Saturday for a "taste of Cannon County". Whether you're in the market for one of Mrs. Irene's fried pies and a "mess" of fruits or vegetables for great tasting weekend meal, the Cannon County Farmers Market is a great place to visit. As we creep toward fall, as you would guess your traditional favorites will be available at the Market. The Market has several new producers this year along with those you have known for years. We look forward in seeing you at the Cannon County Farmers Market.

During the week, drop by the Market on Tuesdays and Thursday from 7A.M. until 11:00A.M for locally grown fruits and vegetable at the peak of freshness.

For those looking for locally grown farm fresh vegetables, drop by the Cannon County Farmers Market this Saturday, September 6th for a great selection of fruits, vegetables and baked good including; beans (blue lake, Roma and half-runners), beets, butternut, cantaloupes, cucumbers, eggplant, fresh herbs, local honey, peppers (Anaheim, bell, banana, Poblano, cayenne, jalapeno, sweet banana), mint, okra, potatoes (Yukon, red Pontiac, cobbler and Kennebec), purple hull peas, sweet corn (peaches & cream and silver queen), squash (zucchini, patty pan and yellow), sweet corn, tomatoes (red, yellow and green), watermelons, assortment of squash.

Irene Hollis has a great selection of homemade fried pies and assortment of jams, jellies and baked goods. Half Acre Farm offers shiitake mushrooms and organic cucumbers, tomy toe tomatoes, basil, salsa and pesto.

The Cannon County Farmers Market is located in the Farmers Pavilion at the Cannon County Arts Center (1424 John Bragg Hwy, Woodbury, TN 37190) every Saturday beginning at 6:00 A.M. Our producers are proud to offer locally grown farm fresh produce. Most Saturdays the market is open until noon or until the farm fresh fruits and vegetables have been sold.

If you need more information concerning the market or would like to become a vendor, contact Bruce Steelman at the Cannon County Extension Office (563-2554), bsteelman@utk.edu or Cannoncountyfarmersmarket.com.

Neck and back problems? Lighten your backpack

With kids heading back to school, as busy parents we often forget how important our children's backs are. Heavy textbooks, binders, and school supplies are just a few things that our children are carrying in their backpacks. This can cause lasting problems in the neck and back that can follow them throughout their lives.

An average of 64% of school ages children 11- to 15- years of age that carry backpacks have reported pain, according to a 2004 study published by The Journal of Pediatric Orthopedics. A heavy backpack can cause worsened posture, muscle soreness, shoulder pain, along with numbness and tingling. One study showed that 70% of students ages 10- to 18- carried their backpacks in a stooped or leaning position, half of which said they believed their packs were too heavy.

We only have one spine! We need to take good care of it, here are some ways to help alleviate some of that pain:

1. Choose the right pack. Adult-sized backpacks are not made for children. A good general rule of thumb is that the shoulder straps should be adjusted to fit snugly, a loose fitting pack can cause muscle strain. The bottom of the backpack should be at least two inches below the waist.

2. Lighten the load. The weight of the backpack should be no more than 15% of the child's body weight, load heavier items closest to the back. Pack only the necessities for the day.

3. Wear both straps. Wearing both straps will cause the weight to be evenly distributed, promoting better posture.

4. Lift with your legs. Face the backpack, bend at the knees (not at the waist) then lift with your legs, putting the straps on one shoulder at time. Try not to twist the body when picking the backpack up or when putting it on.

5. Set a timer. Try to carrying the backpack for only 30 minutes or less.

6. Encourage activity. Children that are more active tend to be more flexible and have more muscle strength, making it easier to carry a heavy backpack.

PETTUS READ, Guest Columnist

Non-GMO Pledge made me pick another spread

The other day as I pushed my grocery cart down the aisle of my favorite food store, I was stopped in my tracks as I approached the dairy case that held the brand of the whipped spread that goes on my toast and in my oatmeal each morning. There on the top of the blue and yellow container that holds my low-sodium, whipped buttery spread, which I have eaten for over six years due to my late wife's orders, was printed a "non-GMO" pledge. The contents are already 64 percent vegetable oil and uses the words "buttery" on its label which is an insult to a dairy cow, but now they are going after my grain farmers just to peddle a few pots of something to make toast taste good without causing some of us to feel guilty about eating the jam we gob on it in the first place.

There has yet to be real good science about GMOs causing health problems and much of what you hear comes from the internet, along with a lot of advertising, to say some products don't have it. Just to let you know, no commercially grown crops in this country were created by nature alone. We humans, over time, have altered all our crops in some way or the other for taste or yield, beginning all the way back there with Noah. We have always saved the best seeds or attempted to produce a higher producing plant to feed more people and modification has been the source from hybrids on up.

That afternoon as I changed my reach for the first time in six years from the yellow and blue carton over to some real dairy products to put on my toast, like I did growing up, I wondered what those folks at the blue tub plant would think about Wilson County farming hero and plant modifier William Haskell Neal who would have marveled at today's GMO products.

To those of you who are not familiar with Tennessee history and especially agricultural history, Neal was the originator of the famous seed corn Neal's

Paymaster that revolutionized seed corn production for years. I've written about him before because he is a Tennessee hero just like Houston and Crockett. He was a farmer

He was told his variety would prove of great value to Tennessee farmers. "Well, that is what the farmers want," Neal said as reported in the 1920 edition of the Southern and experimented with a revolutionary idea of breeding seed corn by selecting seed only from two-eared stalks. The results of his experimentation resulted in increasing the corn yield of farmers amounting to millions of dollars. In 1919, it was estimated that Neal's Paymaster corn added $2 million a year to the state of Tennessee's economy. Neal's Paymaster corn was an added income producer that was greatly needed in turn-of-the-century agriculture.

Almost a hundred years ago Neal did this, and who would have thought way back then that people would be receptive to an idea where someone could come up with a way to produce more food by changing the way we selected our seed. I guess with a hunger in the country and a deeper understanding of agriculture, the people in those days could see the need more so than we do today.

Neal got his idea for growing his new seed corn from reading an article in a farm paper about seed selection. Going over his fields, he found here and there a two-eared stalk, from which he carefully saved the bottom ear, as the article suggested. It took him ten years of discarding inferior types and keeping only ears with the deepest grains, slimmest cobs, and best-filled tips.

After five years of testing with the University of Tennessee, they sent back word that he had struck upon something unusual.

Agriculturist magazine. "We don't care how crooked the row, or how twisted the cob, so long as there is plenty of grain. It is quantity and quality we are after, not looks."

The seed corn needed a name and it was Mrs. Neal who did just that. As reported in the Southern Agriculturist, Wilson County was famous for its fine horses and jack stock. The county had a famous colt called Paymaster, which had made one Jones family a lot of money. Mrs. Neal told her husband as they sat around the kitchen table, thinking of a name, "If this corn will pay its master as well as the Jones' colt did, I don't see where we could find a better name." So was the creation of the name Neal's Paymaster seed corn.

Back in 1919, our farmers were looking for quantity and quality in production. I know since all those many years ago, our health standards, our manufacturing, and yes, our agriculture has changed for the better in uncountable ways. I do know that I listen to real science before I make decisions about what I put on my toast and I believe Mr. Neal would have suggested that a "non-GMO pledge" on the blue package is somewhat of a twisted cob in the scheme of things.

To the Citizens of Cannon County

I take this opportunity to thank the Citizens of Cannon County for placing their trust in me to serve as your County Executive for the next four years. Serving as your County Executive has been an honor and privilege that I will always be grateful for. I especially want to thank my wife who has been by my side every step of the way. She has always believed in me and has always been a full partner in all I do. My children, grandchildren, son-in-law and daughter-in-law have been a source of inspiration for me during this campaign and I am so proud of each of them.

My brother and his family, my wife's family, my cousins and close friends, I sincerely thank you and will never forget your hard work and contributions on my behalf. I have had friends who have supported me, first as Road Commissioner, then County Commissioner and now as County Executive. What successes I have had over the years is due in large part to their effort.

The county employees that work with me are all good, hardworking and dedicated employees. I thank them for all they do and appreciate them very much. I have been very fortunate to have had two assistants working with me for the entirety of my administration. Ms. Charlotte Duke and Ms. Diane Hickman are both honest and dedicated employees that I appreciate very much and look forward to working with the next four years.

Again, I want to thank you for placing your trust in me to serve as your County Executive. I love Cannon County and its citizens more than you will ever know. Together we have accomplished many good things for Cannon County. I promise to work hard every day the next four years to make Cannon County an even better place to live.

Shade for Cattle Pays Off With Improved Performance

It was extremely "hot" in Tennessee and across other parts of the South and Midwest during the early summer as well. Natural or "man-made" shade for

The researchers also reported that the cows with shade had a pregnancy rate of 87.5% compared to those without shade with 50%. The most common shade for cow-calf operations in Tennessee is trees. Cattle congregating under trees can lead to damaging them

Perilla mint is a common weed in and around shady areas of pastures. Cattle will not normally ingest the weed but in a drought situation presently experienced in some parts of the state, cattle may browse on it due to the limited pasture. Perilla mint is toxic to cattle. Consumption of Perilla mint results in formation of fluid that eventually fills the cattle's lungs and the animal dies. Death will occur within 2 to 3 days after consumption of the

Shortening the Breeding and Calving Season

A defined and shorter breeding and calving season could help producers to more accurately time vaccinations, such as scours prevention vaccination, which needs to be given at a specific interval prior to calving. Tightening the season also reduces the variation in nutritional requirements within the herd at any one point in time. All of this could help producers save time and money on herd inputs.

As producers consider keeping back replacement heifers and rebuilding their herd numbers, they should use the opportunity to shorten the breeding and calving season by controlling the duration of bull exposure to the herd, breeding first-calf heifers earlier than mature cows, matching herd genetics to the environment and making committed culling decisions. Master beef producer classes offered Master Beef Producer Class offered to maximize Agriculture Enhancement grants. The Master Beef Producer Program will be hosted by the Cannon and Warren County Extension. The training will begin held on Tuesday evenings beginning September 23rd and ending November 25th at a cost of $60. The classes will be held at Kat's Diner in Centertown from 6-8:00 PM. We plan to finish the course prior to the Tennessee Enhancement Program reimbursement deadline of December 1, 2014 for Livestock Feed Storage and Livestock Equipment. Completion of this course will allow producers to increase their cost share maximums from 35% to 50%.

manual will be used as a study manual during the course and for your future reference. Following completion of the course, you will be awarded a "certificate," a Master Beef Producer cap and Master Beef Producer sign that can be mounted near the entrance to your farm.

To enroll in the Master Beef Producer Program, contact the Cannon County Extension Office at 563-2554, or drop by the Office at 614 Lehman Street. The cost of the program is $60. This and other programs of the University of Tennessee Extension are open to all interested persons. UT Extension provides equal opportunities in programs.

Master Dairy Update

The Tennessee Master Dairy Program is trying to assist producers by doing a better job in producing a high quality product and to improve your bottom line. Materials are available to train producers to become eligible to be a Master Dairy Producer this year and be eligible for the 50% cost share with the Tennessee Ag Enhancement Program. Several of you attended the educational programs that Dr. Krawczel gave back in January. If you need to attend one or the both meetings to get your eligibility for a Tennessee Master Dairy Producer, please contact Ricky Skillington at 931-359-1929 as soon as possible. The initial training will last around 12 hours, but we might be able to break this into two days. You can also reach Mr. Skillington via email at rskillin@utk.edu.

Please don't wait until the last minute to schedule these trainings. The training that you take this year will good for only this year for the 50% cost share program through TAEP.

The University of Tennessee will be offering three classes next year to keep you up to date as a Master Dairy Producer next year. Those dates will be sent out closer to first of the year. Two meetings will be held in Middle Tennessee again next year. One will be in Lewisburg and the other in Cookeville, the same as this year. The University of Tennessee has made a commitment to try to assist all dairy producers in Tennessee to help insure that you continue to produce a high quality product.

Eat breakfast says the doctor

Eating a healthy breakfast is truly important to your overall health.

"Breakfast really is the most important meal of the day because it breaks a night of fasting, or going without food, and it replenishes your supply of energy and other essential nutrients to keep your energy level up throughout the day," said Dr. Betty Greer, a nutrition specialist with University of Tennessee Extension.

Further, eating breakfast is helpful if you are trying to lose weight. "You will not lose weight any faster by going without breakfast. Eat something in the morning even if you are not hungry," she said. Many people aren't hungry first thing in the morning or are in such a rush they feel they don't have time for a meal.

As listed in a UT Extension publication for the Tennessee Shapes Up program, people who eat breakfast have advantages over those who skip the meal. A healthy breakfast helps you:

- o Stay healthier.
- o Stabilize blood sugar and reduce your risk for diabetes.
- o Reduce your risk for heart attacks.
- o Reduce appetite the rest of the day.

o Reduce irritability and improve disposition.

A healthy breakfast also helps children learn better in school. People who skip breakfast tend to nibble and snack more than those who eat something in the morning.

There is one major caution to the advice, however. Greer says you should avoid sweet pastries and doughnuts, which provide empty calories and set you up for a massive energy slump. "Instead, choose low-sugar, low-fat, high-fiber and high-protein foods, for example an egg on a whole-grain English muffin," she said. Read the label to choose bread with a higher amount of protein.

Don't overlook the traditional hot cereal. Some of the whole grain cereals take longer to cook and in today's busy environment, that can be a problem. Try cooking a larger portion at night, store in refrigerator, then spoon the amount needed for a serving into a microwavable bowl. Stir in a little milk or water (the cereal with thicken as it cools), cover and heat.

Breakfast can consist of non-traditional breakfast foods such as a peanut butter sandwich or leftover meat on bread for a sandwich. An option for those who aren't that hungry or in a rush is a breakfast beverage like a smoothie or protein shake.

The nutrition expert adds that breakfast does not have to be an elaborate or sit-down ordeal, but it is important to eat breakfast. Combine common sense with good nutrition, and the whole family will be healthier and happier.

For more information about healthy and nutritious food choices, visit the UT Extension Family and Consumer Sciences web site for the Tennessee Shapes Up program: <http://tnshapesup.tennessee.edu/adult.htm>.

UT Extension operates in each of Tennessee's 95 counties as the off-campus division of the UT Institute of Agriculture. An educational outreach organization, funded by federal, state and local governments, UT Extension, in cooperation with Tennessee State University, brings research-based information about agriculture, family and consumer sciences, and youth and community development to the people of Tennessee where they live and work.

Auburntown News

BY ANNA PATRICK

Well it's back in the hospital again for P-pa last weekend. In on Friday and out on Sunday. He is doing better but we are still working on some tests.

Congratulations to Paul Leyhew who has entered the retirement phase of his life. After spending 29.667 years at Heritage Farms, he decided to call it quits. Saturday, August 23, he was honored by family and friends with a delicious retirement meal and party at Brown's Store in Lascassas. Now wife, Connie, has to deal with his retirement!!!

Congratulations to Catie Adams for was recognized by the Dailey News Journal as a top player to watch out for in Volleyball. She is a Lionettes' senior setter and an all-around player and server. Woo-hoo!

Auburn Baptist Church held a baptismal service Sunday the 24th. Tina Russell Fletcher was the candidate.

Auburn School wants to send out a big THANK YOU for supporting them during their recent meals.

The "Seniors" of Prosperity Baptist Church enjoyed touring interesting points of Scottsville, KY Thursday the 28th.

Jeremy Whited was surprised by wife, Bobbie, and daughter, Emily, with a birthday party at the park. The best surprise was the birthday cake Emily made for him.

Happy birthday to Waylon Castle Jackson who turns 9 on the 3rd. Mary Kemp and Ashley Kress have theirs the 5th. The 6th Tika Farless gets her cake. It's Jared Saddler and, nephew, Eva Saddler who celebrate the 7th. Rachel Melton ends our week on the 9th when she adds another year. Happy birthday you all.

There is only one anniversary and it's the most important one to me. On September 5, 1964, Prentice Patrick took as his young bride, Anna Harris. Yep, that's me and P-pa and it's been 50 years. Happy anniversary to my sweetheart. I love you.

It was believed the Cannon County Commission would appoint Blackburn's replacement; however, state election officials determined the time frame between Blackburn's resignation and the November General Mankin said placing the position on the ballot would not be additional cost to taxpayers.

"The November General Election was already budgeted," Mankin said. "We are just adding another position to the ballot. We are not paying for another election."

Depression, mental health screening program set for Oct. 9

Depression affects all walks of life. From young adults to the elderly and across all races, nearly one in 10 people in the U.S. suffer from depression.

Screening for depression and other mood disorders allows individuals to identify warning signs early and connect with the appropriate treatment resources. Early recognition and treatment offers the best opportunity for recovery.

National Depression Screening Day (NDS) will be held on Thursday, October 9, 2014. NDS serves as a supportive community initiative to connect the public with mental health screenings. Through this program, Branches Counseling Center will be offering the 5th Annual Free Mental Health Screening at Reeves-Sain Drug Store, 1801 Memorial Blvd., Murfreesboro, from 9 a.m. to Noon.

Mental health screenings are a free and easy way for people to monitor their mental health and learn about local treatment options. This year, more than 1,000 organizations including community centers, hospitals and colleges across the country are hosting National Depression Screening Day events.

If you feel you are in need of immediate help, contact Branches Counseling Center or your nearest health care provider for assistance.

"Recent statistics from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention show that about half of American adults will develop a mental illness at some point in their lifetime," says Tracey Robison, Clinical Director for Branches Counseling Center, Murfreesboro. "It's important to learn the signs and symptoms of depression, such as changes in appetite, loss of energy or loss of interest in your usual activities, as well as the necessary steps you can take to improve your health."

Although the screenings are not diagnostic, they do provide valuable insight helping to identify if someone is exhibiting symptoms associated with depression and other mood disorders and if they should seek help. In a recent independent study commissioned by the nonprofit Screening for Mental Health, 55 percent of study participants who completed a depression and mood disorder screening sought treatment within three months of taking the screening.

About Screening for Mental Health

For more than two decades, Screening for Mental Health, Inc. (SMH) has partnered with organizations to provide mental health education and screening programs, including National Depression Screening Day, National Alcohol Screening Day®, and the National Eating Disorders Screening Program®. These programs are designed to educate, reduce stigma and screen people for alcohol problems and mood and anxiety disorders. Individuals can locate a mental health screening site or take an online screening by visiting www.HelpYourselfHelpOthers.org.

For more information about SMH, visit www.MentalHealthScreening.org.

Branches Counseling Center was founded in 2007, with offices in Murfreesboro, Lebanon, and Springfield and St. Augustine, FL, is a 501(c)(3) non-profit, faith based counseling center offering healing and hope for those struggling with family or emotional issues both adult and children, anxiety, depression or addiction regardless of ability to pay.

The dedicated and well-trained staff of both state licensed and pastoral counselors work with couples, individuals, children, and teens to bring the very best of traditional counseling and Biblical principles to personal, family, and relational issues to help bring meaning and wholeness to everyone the center serves.

Trading Post Chat

BY SAVANNAH CUNNICK

Hold on now....who ordered this hot humid sticky bug infested sweaty weather?!!
 Now, C'mon folks....first we get blown away and now we are melting.... like the wicked witch in the Wizard of OZ : I'm Melting..... OK, guess that's why they call me the Drama Queen at the Post!
 Next subject: My Aunt Martha called yesterday and told me that Uncle Ralph's dementia has just about worn her out! Not only did he have a mini stroke and have to go to the ER and then was admitted to the hospital, but they called her the next morning and told her to pick this man up. He wouldn't stay in bed and they were afraid that they were going to have to tie him down. Martha went to get him, and no sooner arrived at home, and Uncle Ralph was missing. In that split minute, he had hopped on his bicycle and took off! Sure enuf, a neighbor called and Ralph had landed in their driveway and tore up his arm. Back to the ER, stitches and once again admitted. This time they put Uncle Ralph in a wheelchair and he stood guard at the night nurse's station. Poor Martha she's got her hands full! I am sure there are those out there experiencing the same thing with a friend or family member. Bless you and hang in there. We have to be sooo patient in these situations realize that it sure as heck could be us someday. Uncle Festus said that he makes it a point to be nice to his kids....they're the ones choosing his nursing home. Good point, Festus!

 Aunt Annie has taken up a new exercise program. She says that she took up jogging just to hear heavy breathing again! Does Uncle Henry know that?
 Well, back to the Trading Post with it's usual whirlwind activity. New craftspeople have joined us and everyone is decorating for fall and for our upcoming Halloween event on October 11th. Remember that once again we are having our Flea Market then along with Trunk or Treat event, mule wagon rides, great food, crafts and costume awards. If you wish to be part of the flea market, call me, Savannah, at 615-464-7824 for your free space. For directions to the Post or other inquiries, also call that number. The Short Mountain Trading Post is open Thursdays thru Saturdays 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Looking forward to seeing you. Bring your camera! Lots of gorgeous pictures to be taken out here!
 Gotta go for now, so all of you take care, drive carefully, smile, help your friends and neighbors and love you family always! Chat with you next week and c'mon out and see me!

Hugs, Savannah

News from the Mountain

BY CAROL GUNTER

We have a beautiful Wednesday up here on the mountain. No rain the next few days but there will be some on Saturday and Sunday according to the weather people. The percentage of rain happening between thirty and forty percent. After last Wednesday's avalanche of rain we got around here, I thought I was never going to stop. Everywhere around me was water running in every direction and really surrounding me, it was like a moat around our house. The only good thing was I didn't see any alligators protecting me. I could do without any more reptiles or critters of any description to bother me. We can though use more rain as the ground has dried out a lot. If we do get rain, hope it can be a slow, steady rain that could do a whole lot of good with the ground soaking it all up.
 By the time you get to read the column again, we will have had the Gunter Reunion. Always good if family and friends can get together for a little while and catch up on a lot of goings on with them and their families.
 Lou Davis Higgins, my cousin, celebrated her 95th birthday on Tuesday, August 26th. She was taken out to Red Lobster as she told me she loved seafood. It took forever for me to get through to the radio station to wish her a happy birthday. Lots of people calling in to do the same for her on her big day. She's always been an inspiration to me in how one should live a Christian life.

 We have some people who need our prayers: the Mattie Gunter family, Jewel Lawson's family, Denise Stanton, Donna Lawson, Edith Miller, Chloe Evelyn Bogle, and Bobby Taylor.
 Had to snatch some tomatoes, cucumbers, and even a pod of green pepper off my neighbor and good friend Diane Evans' patio table today. This is quite okay as I left a message on her phone to let her know I was the culprit who did it. She might have thought the little green men had been there and had made off with a haul of her veggies. After all, she does know about the little green guys as she reads the column and knows how much fun we have carrying on about them.
 I guess I have a pet spider on my hands as it is one of those that you see around this time of the year. It, I am sure, has a name but I just call it a garden spider. It is black and yellow. Just a couple of weeks ago, it was pretty small, but now it is really huge and quite a good-looking spider, if you can call them that. One time on TV on this home improvement show, the property owner had a big spider like mine on one of his bushes and he had named him Godzilla. I think I will just name mine George. Giving him a name like Godzilla might just get him to thinking he's bigger than what he is and he might become an attack spider. I can't have that as I have enough other things on my mind to think about as in the little green guys. One more distraction might just send me over the edge.

 Cannot hardly believe what a person has called and just told me. He wondered what Clyde would do at the reunion, if he came dressed and painted up like one of the little green men. I was quick in my response and told him Clyde would have to surely be revived and hopefully he wouldn't have to be on a stretcher leaving Aubrey's shop in the aftermath of this kind of shock to him. Told the guy we want the reunion to be one to be remembered - but just not in that way. Like Barney on the Andy Griffith Show, I had to "nip that notion in the bud."
 If you have any news for the column, just give me a call at (615) 563-4429. Have a great day!
And we know that all things work together for good to those who love God, to those who are called according to His purpose. Romans 8:28

Arts Center of Cannon County presents Baillie & The Boys

BAILLIE & THE BOYS
Friday, Sept. 5 at 7:30 PM

In the late 80's, early 90's and long before the introduction of vocal groups Lady Antebellum, The Band Perry & Little Big Town, Baillie & The Boys were supplying U.S. radio stations with a steady string of country hits, sharing the airwaves with country contemporaries including Highway 101, Restless Heart, The Desert Rose Band, Sweethearts of the Rodeo, Southern Pacific and Shenandoah. Responsible for introducing the east coast Pop sound to country music, Baillie & The Boys delivered male-female harmonies with a signature sound that was both warm and organic and still unmatched today.

The Arts Center of Cannon County is pleased to bring Baillie & The Boys to the Arts Center stage on Friday, Sept. 5. Tickets are $15 for adults, $13 for seniors and students. The "Blue Porch at the Arts Center" will be open featuring down home Southern cooking, so join us for an evening of delicious food and extraordinary music.

The Arts Center is located on 1424 John Bragg Highway, just west of the town of Woodbury, approximately 20 minutes from Murfreesboro, Manchester, and McMinnville and one hour southeast of Nashville. Office hours are 10:00a.m. to 4:00p.m., Tuesday through Saturday. For reservations or more information check our website at www.artscenterofcc.com or call 615-563-(ARTS) 2787.

Stones River Mall to launch farmer's market

With a theme of "Homegrown, Handmade, and Heartfelt," Stones River Mall will introduce Market at the Mall, a producer-only farmers' and artisan market, this fall.

Beginning in October, Market at the Mall will be held from noon-4p on the first Sunday of each month. It will be located behind Shoe Carnival and Bink's Outfitters, alongside Robert Rose Drive.

"Stones River Mall is refocusing itself as a gathering place within the community, and Market at the Mall is the perfect addition to our ever-growing calendar of family-centric events," explains Melinda Noblitt, marketing manager for Stones River Mall.

"Our mission is to provide producer-only healthy, fresh foods, horticultural products, and handmade art to the residents and visitors of Murfreesboro and Rutherford County. We strive to increase local commerce, while providing entertainment to shoppers and exposure to local producers and artisans. Market at the Mall allows us to effectively enhance the quality of life in Rutherford County by providing a community activity which fosters social gathering and interaction."

Market at the Mall provides an outlet for local vendors to sell their products during the winter season. This is especially beneficial to those producers who relied on the Rutherford County Farmers' Market's extended season, which was recently cancelled.

Stones River Mall has commissioned the help of local producer, Nina Hanson, who will manage Market at the Mall. As partner of Hanson Farms, she has experience in the industry and strong ties to the farming community. After seeing a need for a market in Lascassas, Hanson also established the Lascassas Farmers' Market earlier this year at Lascassas Feed Supply.

Hanson hopes shoppers will learn to incorporate seasonal produce into everyday cooking and says Market at the Mall can expose them to local producers and farmers.

"The old adage, 'Shake the hand that feeds you,' rings true," she says. "It is extremely important to shake the hand of the person who grows and prepares your food. I believe in that, and I'm really happy Stones River Mall is reaching out to the local community and the local economy to make that happen."

Each month's market will also feature an underlying theme: October will offer a harvest festival feel complete with pumpkin painting and live music. In November, shoppers are invited to bring dog and cat food donations for Rutherford P.A.W.S. The local animal shelter will bring its mobile pet unit for on-site adoptions, and Paul Mitchell - The School Murfreesboro will showcase its line of pet-friendly products. Market at the Mall will host a Toys-for-Tots toy drive in December, then highlight healthy cooking and fitness demonstrations in January. All things loving and heartfelt will abound in February, while March's market will focus on springtime gardening.

In addition to traditional farmers' market vendors, Market at the Mall will offer an array of locally handmade wares, including soaps, jams, artwork, and jewelry. Market at the Mall is currently accepting vendor applications for the 2014-2015 season. The cost is $40 per month, or $200 for all six markets, reserved and paid for in advance. In the event of inclement weather, the market will be moved indoors.

Dates for Market at the Mall are as follows:

October 5, 2014
November 2, 2014
December 7, 2014
January 4, 2015
February 1, 2015
March 1, 2015

For additional information, or to become a vendor, visit www.stonesrivermall.com/market or email stonesrivermallmarket@gmail.com.

Lions suffer costly setback

Cannon County drops 28-6 decision; loses TE Bryson for season

TONY STINNETT
Courier Sports Editor

GAINSBORO - Things went from bad to worse for the Cannon County football team during its 28-6 loss at Jackson County here Friday (Aug. 29).

Not only did the Lions (0-2) struggle to put together any offensive consistency in the setback, but they also lost their top all-around offensive threat in the process.

Junior tight end Bo Bryson, who finished with three receptions for 49 yards, suffered a knee injury in the fourth quarter. Early indication is Bryson suffered tears in his ACL and MCL and will require surgery that will end his junior campaign.

Bryson's 49 yards represented almost all of Cannon County's 68 yards total offense.

Quarterback Josh Walkup was 4-of-12 passing for 52 yards and one interception. Walkup scored the Lions' only touchdown on a 7-yard run to give the team a 6-0 lead following its first offensive possession. The extra point attempt failed.

A.J. Daniel led the ground game with 24 yards on 11 carries. Wilder Mankin added 23 yards on four carries and also had a 22-yard kickoff return.

The Lions had 57 yards rushing as a team but when you factor in the lost yardage plays due to sacks and fumbles, they finished with 16 yards on 31 carries.

Cannon County was also guilty of four turnovers - one interception and three lost fumbles.

"We just didn't play well enough or execute well enough to win the game," Walkup said. "We tried and we prepared well. We played hard. We just didn't do enough to get the result we wanted."

Actually, the defense played plenty well enough.

The spirited effort of the white-and-maroon clad Lions kept Cannon County in the game for the longest time.

Jackson County led 9-6 at halftime and maintained the advantage until early in the fourth quarter when the Blue Devils scored on a 2-yard run to extend the lead to 15-6 with 10:33 remaining.

Ethan Smith led the defensive charge with two sacks and 12 total tackles. Daniel had two sacks and a tackle for loss. Maika Fonoti had a big game with two tackles for loss. Bryson added a sack and tackle for loss. Billy Motlow and Case Isenhardt also had tackles for lost yardage as several defensive stalwarts made their presence known.

In the end, the defense was on the field way too long and it began to take a toll in the waning stages of the second half.

Not only was Cannon County's offense unable to control the ball consistently, but it also put the defense in bad situations with the turnovers and three-and-outs in the second half.

Of Jackson County's 28 points, 15 were the direct result of Cannon County's inept offense.

Jackson County, which was missing six starters due to injury, scored one touchdown on a Lions' offensive fumble. The Blue Devils also scored on a safety and added a touchdown on the free kick following the safety. Jackson County finished with 185 total yards with 110 coming on the ground.

"It's our job to stop them," linebacker Ethan Smith said. "I thought the defense did a good job overall, but we didn't do enough. We just have to keep working to improve."

The aspect of a promising evening for the Lions was there when Cannon County took its opening drive and marched 53 yards on nine plays and scored on Walkup's 7-yard run. Cannon County led 6-0 with 6:53 remaining in the first quarter.

The score remained 6-0 late in the first half but the Lions, pinned back at their Bryson suffered a knee injury during the fourth quarter and likely is lost for the season. Below, Maika Fonoti, 53, pulls down Jackson County running back Joseph Walton during first-half action.

6 following a Jackson County punt, dropped back for a pass on first down.

A Jackson County defender busted through the line and sacked Walkup in the end zone for a safety to cut the score to 6-2 with 3:47 remaining in the half.

Jackson County took the free kick and drove 56 yards to take a 9-6 lead with 20 seconds remaining.

Cannon County never recovered.

In fact, the Lions seemed to lose some of their identity. They opened the second half with three different quarterbacks - Daniel, Jake Hoskins and Walkup - on their first three possessions.

The first series went three-and-out. The second resulted in a fumble on the second play of the drive.

Cannon County will have a bye week Friday before returning home to play host to Red Boiling Springs, Sept. 12.

Linksters gaining stability

TONY STINNETT
Courier Sports Editor

With the district tournament looming in less than two weeks, Cannon County's boys golf team is heating up at the right time.

Cannon County turned in one of its best rounds of the season in a tri-match with district foes Murfreesboro Central and Livingston Academy at Willow Brook Tuesday (Aug. 26).

Central won the match with a score of 150. Cannon County was second with a 174, followed by Livingston Academy with a 190.

Key in Cannon County's late-season surge has been better consistency amongst its scorers - particularly players who were at the top of the list last season.

Cannon County senior golfer Nick Vassar fired a season-low 47 in the Lions' tri-match against Central Manget and Livingston Academy.

posted a 42 to lead the Lions. William Parker added a 43 and Briar Jakes posted a 44. Jacob Nave and Josh Ruhlen each scored 45, followed by Nick Vassar with a season-best 47 and Jake Todd with a low of 52.

Still time to register for Cannon County Hoops Clinic

The Cannon County High School Booster Club is conducting the second Cannon County Hoops Clinic. All Clinic sessions will be held at CCHS.

Cost of the camp is $50 and all campers will receive a tee-shirt.

The camp is boys and girls in grades K-8. It is designed to enhance and instill good fundamentals, techniques in shooting, ball handling, passing, defense, hand-eye coordination, rebounding and footwork.

Camp will also include group instruction and station work. Players will be divided into groups by grade levels. For more information, contact Michael Dodgen 563-2144.

Lionettes shoot, score Soccer powers to pair of victories

TONY STINNETT
Courier Sports Editor

The character of a team is generally revealed in the face of adversity.

Cannon County's soccer team has a great deal of character.

After suffering a 13-1 setback at the hands of powerful Central Magnet to start the week, Cannon County (3-2), responded with impressive wins against Jackson County and Watertown.

The Lionettes turned back Jackson County, 4-1, on the road Thursday (Aug. 28) and returned home for a triumphant 13-3 win against Watertown Saturday (Aug. 30).

Junior standout Livia Walker scored seven goals in the three matches, including two hat tricks. The forward has produced 12 goals through five matches, just shy of her single-season record 18 goals in 2013.

While Walker has been a scoring machine, team play has enabled Cannon County to put a quality product on the field.

Walker scored Cannon County's only goal in the setback at Central. Keeper Jessica Elmy had 12 saves or the score could have been much worse.

Things were much better at Jackson County.

The defense was solid, holding the Lady Blue Devils scoreless through the first 70 minutes of the 90-minute match.

Jylian Jones anchors the defense, which was supported by the strong physical play of LeeAnn Scott, Jayme Dyer and Bailey Sims. Raquel Novoa provided excellent support at the stopper position and kept a few offensive possessions from stalling with quick thinking and excellent ball placement. Elmy had nine saves.

Midfielders Kalie McCrary, Hannah Haley, Kendra Maynard, Victoria "Tory" Jones and Kristen McReynolds helped keep the pressure on the Jackson County defense and made several stop before the Jackson County offense could build any momentum.

Walker scored three goals for her second hat trick. Molly Williams scored the only other goal, her second of the season. Maynard, Williams and Walker had assists for the Lionettes.

"It was the best our offense has looked thus far," Lionettes Head Coach Zach McAllister said. "The girls were excited about their success on the field."

They had to be even more excited following their 13-3 win against Watertown.

Cannon County jumped out to a 9-0 halftime lead and coasted.

Walker scored three goals for her third hat trick in five matches. Williams had one goal and one assist. Kaylee Nemeth scored two goals. Maynard scored one goal, Victoria "Tory" Jones scored two goals, Hannah Taylor scored one goal. Bailey Sims added a goal and Hannah Haley had one goal, and C.J. Roberts scored one goal.

"For the final 20 minutes we played extremely conservative and worked primarily on our passing," McAllister said. "We also wanted to let some of the younger players get experience in difference portions as we will experience attrition after this season losing Molly, Kendra and Kristen. The girls had a solid match and several played well."

TRUTH IN SCRIPTURE

Jonah's Anger Jonah 4

Jonah hated the Assyrians but God sent him to preach to them anyway. He was to warn them of the coming destruction God had planned for them because of their sins. When they repented and God spared them from destruction, Jonah was angry with God. He complained that he knew that God was compassionate and would relent from sending calamity upon the Ninevites if they repented and they had repented and God did relent. Jonah asked God to take his life. The Lord God would not take Jonah's life. Jonah sat down in the shade of a shelter he made and the Lord sent a vine to help shade him. Jonah was happy about the vine but the Lord sent a worm to destroy the vine. He then sent a hot wind and the hot sun and Jonah again wanted to die. Jonah still felt that God was unfair. God reminded Jonah how he had been concerned about the vine and in the same regard it was right for Him (God) to be concerned about the great city of Nineveh and the 120,000 people who lived there.

UT Extension Services to broaden reach

The Governor's Foundation for Health and Wellness, through its Healthier Tennessee initiative, has created a partnership with the University of Tennessee (UT) Extension to promote Healthier Tennessee in all of the state's 95 counties.

"We have said from the beginning this effort must be locally owned and implemented in order to be successful," Governor's Foundation for Health and Wellness CEO Rick Johnson said. "This new partnership will engage a statewide network of community leaders to assist in fostering local participation and ownership of wellness programs."

Through this new partnership, UT Extension Family and Consumer Sciences agents in each county will be on the ground encouraging workplaces and faith communities to start wellness programs and helping them through the process. They will be key to the Foundation's local implementation process, encouraging people and groups to take advantage of its free, online wellness toolkits, Small Starts, Small Starts @ Work and Small Starts @ Worship.

"Through this partnership Family and Consumer Sciences Extension agents will have a unique opportunity to use the Small Starts toolkits to empower worksite and faith based organizations to support healthy choices at work and worship in easy, doable ways for lifelong impacts," UT Extension Family and Consumer Sciences Assistant Dean and Professor Dr. Laura Stephenson said.

To launch this new partnership, UT Extension Family and Consumer Sciences agents will learn about the Healthier Tennessee initiative and be introduced to its Small Starts tools during their annual professional development conference in Murfreesboro.
